SPIRE in the SNOW

Next time you see a church standing in the snow, its spire raised to the winter sky, think how hard it was to attend Sunday services in your grandfather's day.

Then it was a matter of getting up in the cold chill of early morning, hitching up horse and sled, and jingling across the countryside with sharp icicles of wind stinging your cheeks. Yet few stayed at home because of the weather.

Today, it is relatively easy for all of us to get to Church. Whether we live in the city or in the country, modern transportation can bring us conveniently to the very doors of the Church. Yet we are far more apt to stay home than grandfather was.

Grandfather realized there was so much to be gained by making his pilgrimage through the snow that only sickness could have kept him at home. He knew that few experiences were richer than worshiping in the church of his choice each Sunday morning. If we stop to think . . . and if we're honest with ourselves . . . we'll know it too.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Nobody Loves a Fat Man

We Americans always have been proud of the fact that our military men are the best fed and best cared for of any troops in the world, but the Army has decided that a very good thing can be carried too far. The Army has issued a flat order to all American troops in Europe: "Get the fat off so you can be ready to fight."

Unpredictable Reds

Released after two years imprisonment by the Chinese Reds, Canadian Squadron Leader McKenzie has no more idea of why he was turned loose at the Hong Kong border than why the Chinese continued to hold the illegally imprisoned American airmen.

Thus once again the unpredictable Reds exhibit their incredible ability to play cat-and-mouse with the forces of the Western world. The Canadian Air Force officer had been flying with American Air Force elements when he was shot down, as the airmen of our own destroyed planes were shot down, yet he is restored to his homeland the Americans are kept in prison while the Communists propagandize with their phoney charges.

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden forcefully expressed the British position when he accused the Chinese Reds of direct violation of the Korean armistice, as he participated in an interchange with Socialist member John Baird in the House of Commons recently.

Unit commanders have been told to check up down the line and route all fat corporals and corpulent colonels to hospitals and dispensaries for medical advice on dieting and other reducing methods.

To paraphrase an old military saying, what it probably all boils down to is that an Army is supposed to march on its stomach, not fall over it.

Of this deliberate violation there can be no doubt, any more than there can be doubt about other violations of the armistice such as the build-up of forces south of the Yalu.

It is encouraging, nevertheless, to know that the 15 Korean War allies are cooperating in the United Nations on the details of a resolution calling for the release of the imprisoned airmen and other Allied personnel still in the hands of the Red Chinese.

Doubtless such a resolution will receive the same insulting rebuff we have been accustomed to receive, but with the presidential insistence on exerting every effort possible short of war it is important that we adopt an attitude of patience, however difficult that may be.

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Free Expression Of Opinion Differences More Important Than Having Conformity

Senator Mike Mansfield is generally regarded as a Liberal with a big L. A Liberal used to be defined as a person who believed in an increase in the liberties of the individual man. David Hume, the philosopher who so affected the thought which brought our country into existence, defined liberty as follows:

"By liberty, then, we can only mean a power of acting or not acting, according to the determinations of the will; this is, if we choose to remain at rest, we may; if we choose to move, we also may. Now this hypothetical liberty is universally allowed to belong to every one who is not a prisoner and in chains."

When therefore Senator Mansfield would deprive a retired Army or Navy officer of the right to speak his mind or join a cause, of his own free will and at his own risk, he would deprive him of his liberty. Edmund Burke made the point that "among a people generally corrupt, liberty cannot long exist," which is why the Marxists find themselves in difficulties because they have permitted themselves to be corrupted by enslavement to a discipline and a conspiracy and reject the doctrine of free will by the acceptance of mental and moral regimentation. It is precisely this regimentation that must be fought off in the United States.

Senator Mansfield takes the position that military officers have been "taken care of" from the time they enter West Point or Annapolis until they are buried in Arlington National Cemetery. He said: "They should not lend their good names and prestige to movements which are contrary to the best interests of the United States."

He would deprive such men of their liberty and force them to conform to some dictated but temporary view because they once were employed by the Government of the United States. Such a position makes employment a liability because it reduces such a person to secondary citizenship. Can anyone imagine General Douglas MacArthur being silenced because he was for half a century employed in the United States Army?

In the matter of John Paton Davies, Jr., it does not seem to be reasonable that the State Department should withhold the money due him—or for that matter a contact gagging him. Is money worth that much? He has the right, as a person and a citizen, to devote his life to the defense of his integrity. We grant that right to a murderer, a rapist, a thief, a spy. Shall we refuse that right to a man because he was in the employ of the State Department?

Let us consider two hypothetical cases:

1. Suppose John Paton Davies, Jr., wishes to fight his case on the thesis that he was asked to do certain things by the CIA or by the State Department and that whatever he did was only in fulfillment of his duty. Shall he be deprived of the right to try to prove such a defense? Is he not entitled to document such a case if he can? Is he forever to bear the stigma of rejection without the opportunity to clear himself? I do not know whether Davies can clear himself, but he is entitled to the possibility.

2. Suppose Alger Hiss wishes to prove that he was not a Communist, not a spy for Soviet Russia, but that he served his government in a special manner at the request, let us say, of the President of the United States. I do not know that there is the slightest truth in such a hypothesis or that Alger Hiss wants to do anything of the sort. But suppose he does, has anyone the moral right to deprive him of the freedom to fight for his name, his place in the world, even to his dying day, only because he was employed by the Government of the United States?

If imposed conformity is wrong for a university professor, it is wrong for a general, an admiral or anybody. If imposed conformity is wrong for those who call themselves liberals or progressives, it is wrong for those who call themselves conservatives or moderates or nothing at all. If it is wrong for anybody, it is wrong for everybody.

It is more important that we have overt differences of opinion with ample opportunity for their expression than that we suffer from the suppressive effects of conformity and unity. When we have an intellectual goose-step in this country, it may eliminate all the yak-yak of contentment, but we shall no longer be a thinking or a free people. We shall worship those in office as German people cowered before any man in a uniform.

The Once Over

This should be a Christmas dedicated to "The Thirteen." . . . The Christmas when thoughts in every home, church and shopping throng should be of American service men known to be condemned to the bleak horrors of Yuletide in Asiatic prison cells. They hear no voices of children, sense no perfume of pine and spruce, know no streets full of Christmas illumination. "Holy Night" comes to them from no chapel, home or store window. And this may be true of many others reported missing.

"Merry Christmas" falls on them like a mockery. "Peace on earth, good will toward men" reaches them only as a far-off memory. How do they fare in Chinese dungeons? Does December mean anything?

Do they know the day? Are they sure of the season? If conscious of the Yuletide do they dream of Christmas days at home . . . see again in memory their first tree? . . . recall childhood days when they listened for hoofbeats on the roof and a rustle in the fireplace? Here is a kid on the dirt-floor of a squalid Peiping prison—sentenced for life! A few years ago his eyes popped at the street corner Santa and he wrote letters to the North Pole and was held spellbound by the lighted Christmas tree. An American serviceman sent up for life! . . . How long ago was it that he, played with wooden soldiers, chattered over a toy-shop gun, played at make-believe warfare?

This was only yesterday; yet he has known the horrors of war, been captured, tortured and thrown into prison in hands of an enemy whose leaders are without mercy, charity or good will!

If he hears Yuletide laughter it is cruel and mocking. A guard spits in his face. Kindness is gone from the countenances he sees at the narrow slit on the wall. Who at home this season can hear "It fell upon a midnight clear" without seeing a thin, tortured face in the narrow cell? Who can miss, framed in a holly wreath, the phantom visage of a Yankee airman, a GI, a priest or a missionary? Can grownups find real joy this Christmas of 1954 or is it only for the very young . . . the kids who read no papers, comprehend no broadcasts and have not yet sensed the world's brutality?

The Thirteen see no starlit nights, sense no shepherds in the fields, hear no sleighbells in the snow. It is hard for them to picture the Wise Men and the Magi moving toward Bethlehem in the deep silences of a magic night. But perhaps the yuletide crib . . . close their eyes and behold the Mother and Babe . . . Out of their memories may come the clear picture of the cattle in the stable. Their nostrils catch the odor of frankincense and myrrh. . . . From afar comes a recollection of "But Mary kept all these things and pondered them in her heart." Out of the Yuletides of yesterday their memories may sustain them!

Uncle Sam is slow, there are diplomats of UN who debate, quibble, straddle and dodge. . . . The most sickening of words "abstention" is heard. . . . There are toasts in the cocktail lounges of the temple of peace. . . . It is a Christmas blessing that "The Thirteen" and others do not see all of this picture. The image of the stable at Bethlehem is more real, understandable and reassuring. The Christmas prayer of all Americans is "May their Yuletide memories grow brighter in whatever darkness is theirs! It is years since they asked 'Is there a Santa Claus?' May they soon cease to ask 'IS THERE AN UNCLE SAM?'"

One of the great memories this time of year is that of the boyhood days when you tramped through the snows into the woods for holly. . . . This year, 1954, is seeing a pretty general return to Christmas cards of a spiritual nature. . . . The card showing the Magi, the Nativity and the biblical figures are having record sales. . . . A big drop in the demand for "everyday life" cards is reported.

Two typical Bucks County farmers met at a tavern around haytime, and the first one asked the usual question, "How's crops?" "Waal," allowed the second, "the gas station and the cheeseburger concession is just about holdin' their own, but durned if they ain't holdin' over 'Springtime for Henry' for a second week in my barn."

The crime of bigamy, points out Cass Findlay, carries a penalty more severe, probably, than anything else in the law books: Two mothers-in-law!

arresting assassin since this is in "The Innocents" . . . This is Miss Kelly's best role in her career. . . . Eileen Heckart, who was so good in "Picnic," Henry Jones and Evelyn Varden are other high spots. . . . We thought part of Act II snail'd a little. . . . The first act curtain (fine direction by Reginald Denham) is the moment viewers will remember. . . . In case you enjoy skitistics, Marilyn's dress blew up 15 times for that scene.

Hilton will spend 15 million to improve The Hotel New Yorker next year. One of the new features will be the first floor restaurant-bar overlooking the Hudson River. A la "Top O' the Mark" in San Francisco. . . . Zsa-Zsa's on the cover of 32 European mags. . . . Jack Mulaney, a factory worker in Cincinnati about a year ago, aspired for the Bright Lights and the stage. Without any experience whatever he has played 30 teevy shows (small roles), the featured part on TV Playhouse and was in the "Penny Parker" show. . . . The acting society of the Lunis was aptly assessed by critic John Mason Brown: "They have always played love scenes as though they weren't married."

Sid Caesar's jokey-doke was a Russian version of "Dragonyet." Funnier than Molotov in long drawers. . . . Gina Lollobrigida is probably the world's richest actress. Income taxes in Italy are that low.

Senate Democrats To Name New Group To Probe Reds

Washington, Dec. 10—Two significant moves in the new Congress have been decided on by the Senate Democratic Policy Committee:

To replace the Internal Security Subcommittee, headed by Sen. William Jenner (D., Ind.) with an entirely new committee.

Continuing Republican Sen. William Langer as chairman of the Anti-Monopoly Subcommittee. The militant North Dakotan has been aggressively investigating the embattled Dixon-Yates power contract, and planning a sweeping probe of the utility industry.

Under the Democrats' unannounced plans, Langer would be given $250,000 for these controversial investigations. Last summer, Senate Republican leaders rejected his request for $75,000 for this purpose. Langer has been financing his inquiries largely from the regular funds of the Judiciary Committee, which he heads and of which the Anti-Monopoly Subcommittee is a part.

He is set to start a new series of power hearings next week. The Security Subcommittee, which was created by a special Senate act, expires Dec. 31. The group has done most of the Senate probing of Communists in government. Continuance of the subcommittee in the next (84th) Congress requires new authorization.

Senator Jenner intends to seek that, and will introduce the necessary legislation. The Democratic plan is to shelve it and substitute their proposal for an entirely new committee.

The Reasons — Chief author of both Democratic moves is Sen. Harley Kilgore (W. Va.), who claims Republican backing for them.

Stated to become chairman of the Judiciary Committee, Kilgore will also take over its Immigration Subcommittee in order to lead a drive to revise those laws. He has long been particularly interested in immigration measures.

Kilgore's principal argument in winning Democratic Policy Committee approval for a special or joint Red-probing committee was that it is a full-time job and a Judiciary subcommittee can't do it adequately. He pointed out that more than 40 percent of all Senate bills are assigned to Judiciary. Also that members of the Internal Security Subcommittee, of which it is a part, are required to devote much effort to the main work of Judiciary.

A different reason, however, is behind the plan to let Republican Langer remain chairman of the Anti-Monopoly Subcommittee.

Inter Democratic politics is at the bottom of that.

Sen. Estes Kefauver, Tenn., who has his eyes fixed on the 1956 presidential sweepstakes, set his cap for the Anti-Monopoly chairmanship. He saw it as a highly fruitful source of headline publicity in the coming eventful months; another crime-probing forum like the one that came close to winning him the 1952 nomination. As an Anti-Monopoly member, Kefauver has already done considerable lightning crusading against the Dixon-Yates contract.

But his ambitions run afoul of those of Senate Democratic Floor Leader Lyndon Johnson. The newly re-elected Texan also has his eye on 1956. And he is in a potent position to derail Kefauver.

Johnson urged Kilgore to take Anti-Monopoly, thus adroitly blocking Kefauver without appearing to do so. But Kilgore, a good friend of both, sidestepped getting caught in the middle of their conflicting presidential aspirations.

He proposed a compromise—to continue Langer as Anti-Monopoly chairman.

Kilgore cited various advantages for doing that: It would avert a Democratic feud; be a "nice bi-partisan gesture"; and ensure a tough utility investigation under the leadership of a Republican who is not a candidate for the White House.

Johnson "bought" Kilgore's wily plan, and Langer has been told that barring some unanticipated slip-up he will retain the Anti-Monopoly chairmanship under the Democrats.

Note: Langer is gunning particularly for a "mystery witness"; reputed lobbyist who is said to have participated in secret Budget Bureau discussions on the Dixon-Yates contract. Langer knows who the individual is but has been unable to locate him. According to one tip, he suddenly departed for Europe. Langer is checking passport records on that.

Leonardo da Vinci conceived the idea of the airplane nearly 500 years ago, getting his inspiration from watching the birds.

Letters To The Editor

The Daily Record welcomes Letters To The Editor. The subjects discussed and the opinions expressed are strictly those of the writer and not necessarily the opinions of this newspaper. All Letters To The Editor must be signed with a bona fide address given. Such signatures and addresses will be withheld if the writer desires.

To The Editor,
The Daily Record
Dear Sir:

I just returned from a walk through the Main St. of Stroudsburg, and through the entire business section of East Stroudsburg. I returned to my rectory after my meanderings and thoughts about what I had just seen, not full of indignation. I couldn't truthfully say I was angry, I couldn't even say I was peeved. What I saw sickened me, rather than angered me. I felt a heaviness at the pit of my stomach that was akin to being disgusted. Did you ever want to vomit and just couldn't? It was a sensation I imagine like the one Our Blessed Lord had when speaking to the mediocre, "Because thou art neither hot nor cold I begin to vomit thee from my mouth."

Here is the vision as best I can describe it that overwhelmed me when I saw it. The day: December the 10th, the area: the business sections of Stroudsburg and E. Stroudsburg, Pa. The time: 3:30 in the afternoon. The viewer: a Christian, (simply a Christian in the year 1954). The picture: Hundreds and hundreds of people shoving and bustling, shopping and selecting. Everywhere the image of a roundfaced bewhiskered old gent in long red underwear. Reindeer and holly, $4.95 and $10.95, bargain signs and neon signs, turkeys and cranberry sauce, toys and greetings that said "Happy Holiday." Were I an impetuous man from Mars, I could legitimately ask the question, "What in the hell is going on here? For whom is all this commotion?"

Christmas is a celebration, a time of the year when Christians all over the world commemorate the birthday of the Redeemer of the world. After thousands and thousands of years of waiting, longing and preparing on a wintry night in a little burg no bigger than Bushkill, the Son of God came down from heaven to earth. His name was Jesus, the Christ. And those who have joined His company and His Band, His followers every year on December 25th have decided to give Him a rousing heartfelt birthday party. So gigantic an affair is this commemoration that Christians the world over spend a whole month preparing this heartfelt expression of thanks for His coming in abject poverty to a stable in Bethlehem.

As Christmas is now it is a birthday party for a child who spends His party out on the back porch while Santa Claus and a Christmas tree get the front room. The King of the universe, the Redeemer of mankind gets a colder reception than the bum who knocks at the backdoor in search of a cup of coffee on a cold night. The disgusting part of the picture is not that the Infant Jesus receives a cold reception in the homes and hearts of Christians, as cold a reception as was given Him the first Christmas that He came to the world, the horrible part of the vision is that many Christians, too many Christians go through the motions of preparing for Christmas. We can't blame the innkeepers for throwing out the guardian of Christ when He came to ask for a room, they didn't know they were throwing out the emissary of royalty to whom all succeeding royalty would pay homage and honor. The vicious part of the portrait I am painting is this: These are His own followers who pay more honor to a myth (Santa Claus) than to the fact (Jesus Christ); who give more time to the decoration of a tree, than the one who came to die on a tree; and these are His own followers whom I saw bustling and bustling to fill their children's stockings with nuts and candies and do not take time to fill their children's hearts with a crumb of love for this Child.

There is a far greater ache in Christ's heart this Christmas than on the first Christmas, for now those who ignore Him cannot use the excuse that they did not know Him.

There is far more cruelty

among the innkeepers of Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg than God's son could ever have found in the ignorant innkeeper's heart in Bethlehem.

Signed
A Priest

Editor, The Daily Record
Stroudsburg, Pa.
Dear Editor:

I have heard a number of complaints about the lack of parking facilities in the neighborhood of the Stroudsburg post office.

Limited parking is permitted only in front of the post office building itself, where space is provided for not more than four cars.

At this time of year, people drive to the postoffice with cars full of bundles for Christmas mailing, and find that all four available spaces in front of the postoffice are filled with cars on a similar mission. If they do not want to get a ticket there is only one thing they can do; that is drive around, back and forth, wasting valuable time until some car has given way. This, of course, could take hours, for often the return to the vicinity only brings out the fact that someone else has the space they had visualized as using.

The situation would not be so bad if meters were on the street. But even metered service is not available. Signs on both sides of the street say "no parking." So, the motorist has two alternatives: he can violate the parking signs by illegal parking or walk from some metered parking space (if he is lucky enough to find one) with his arms full of heavy bundles so that he can avail himself of local post office service.

Seems to us that if this condition is allowed to persist, it should create additional revenues for the post office in East Stroudsburg.

We would like to suggest that the limited parking zone in front of the post office be extended farther west on the south side of Ann St. to accommodate a greater number of post office patrons.

Respectfully,
A Post Office Patron

Deer Season Closes Today With Buck Kill Above Average

Many Hunters Expected In Woods Today

A FLOCK of hunters are expected to head for the woods early today on the last big chance to bring home a buck. Deer hunters are reminded that 1955 season closes at a close at 5 p.m.

It is expected to be the third biggest day of the current season as the many unsuccessful hunters hope to make this one count. The opening day, Nov. 29, and last Saturday were the biggest days for reported kills this year.

John Doebling, Monroe County game warden, reported they were more hunters out on the first day and last Saturday than in other years but the weekdays saw less activity than normal.

He said the deer kills are higher in the county despite the fact there has been no snow to help in tracking with the exception of some in the mountains. "We usually have a couple days of snow during the season," Doebling stated. He added that yesterday had been a busy day.

Two East Stroudsburg hunters recently brought home deer. Edward Harlow shot a nine-pointer and Paul Shafer got one with six points.

The Milford area warden, John Lohmann, told The Record there had been very little action in that sector recently. Ice roads in the past few days have kept the number of hunters down there.

He reported the total of hunters in that area of Pike County was off 40 per cent from other years and the kill was below normal. Lohmann stated a recent snow had changed into rain and ice preventing any tracking. The warden said: "Most of the bucks are all back in the oak country and these hunters that have been staying around the farms are singing the blues." Many bear have been seen in the Milford section.

Lohmann was pleased that the number of violators had decreased from other years remarking: "We have a better element of hunters out than during the antler season. I've found just a few illegal deer killed."

Three New Jersey men were fined $50 apiece recently for hunting without license and others were found using improper licenses.

Lohmann mentioned that a total of 10 deer had been killed by spot trucks at night. Two were found yesterday. One other was believed to have been killed and stolen on one road as the ground was found covered with blood.

Mount Pocono Warden John Spencer predicted a big day in that area today due to yesterday's snowfall providing tracks for the hunters to follow. He warned that the deer would be ahead of the hunters due to recent noisy days caused by rain and sleet. He said many were far back in the woods and hard to reach.

Spencer remarked the opening day had been above normal for hunters with 100 cars at Brady's Lake but added: "It has been slacking off ever since." The warden said the number of kills were "up to par" with other years despite poor hunting weather and that violators had decreased.

All final deer kills must be reported to Harrisburg within five days after the season closes this afternoon.

Snow Flurries Slow Traffic In Mountains

SNOW SQUALLS slowed traffic down considerably around Mount Pocono and Blakeslee yesterday, according to Raymond H. Ellenberger, assistant superintendent of the highway department.

Cars were reported to have been having a rough time on the slippery roads in the mountain area as far as El's Corners. "There was just enough to make it slippery," stated Ellenberger.

Five highway trucks began spreading cinders at 10 a.m. and had the roads ready for normal travel within three hours. Three other trucks were at work near Blakeslee to ease the hazardous conditions there. Ice roads made travel dangerous in the Milford sector of Pike County.

It was the second busy day for the highway workers prior to the coming winter season, following Thursday's sleet storm. Looking ahead toward more troublesome days, the assistant superintendent stated: "We're all set for the bad weather."

James Somers was toastmaster for the affair. The service awards were presented by company Capt. Robert Phillips and President Russell Nevil.

Club Opposes Spotting Of Wild Game

GILBERT — West End Rod and Gun Club this week urged passage of a law banning "spotlighting and jacklighting" of game in Pennsylvania.

In a regular meeting at the Gilbert Hotel, the club members voted to set up a committee to study the use of lights in hunting—and observing—deer. Use of lights to hunt game is illegal.

The move was made following complaints from members and farmers in the West End area that motorists were driving onto their lawns and into fields to turn car lights and spotlights on game.

The club appointed Claude Motts to serve as chairman of the committee. His group will contact other sportsmen's organizations in this area and the Commonwealth to sound out general opinion on the proposed law.

In arguing for the law club members pointed out that several other states provide stiff penalties for spotlighting of game. When the committee completes its study the club intends to have its attorneys draw up a proposed law on the subject which would then be submitted to the State Assembly for action, a spokesman said.

The club also announced that it is sponsoring a shooting match at Gilbert Hotel at 1 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 18. Funds from the meet will be used to restock fish and game on club-membership lands.

The next meeting will be held Thursday, Jan. 13, at Chestnut Hill Inn at McIlhenny. Officers will be elected at that meeting.

John Eaton First Sophomore Ever Named Musical Director For Princeton Triangle Show

JOHN C. EATON, East Stroudsburg, this month became the first sophomore at Princeton University ever to be selected as musical director for the annual Triangle Club show. The club is 61 years old.

Eaton—a 1952 graduate of East Stroudsburg High School—wrote most of the music for the current Triangle Show. The show, called "Tunis, Anyone?", opened Thursday at Princeton and ends a three-day run on its home campus tonight.

In the "Who's Who" section of the club's printed program Eaton is described this way:

"This year John is setting a record in Triangle Club history, for he is the first sophomore ever to be selected as Musical Director. Besides this position, he has also written most of the music for 'Tunis, Anyone?'"

"John played the piano in the orchestra for last year's hit, 'Mallie in Wonderland.'" From East Stroudsburg, Pennsylvania, John is also a member of both the "Tigertown Five" and the Glee Club and last year even found time to amass a distinguished academic record at Princeton.

Eaton's musical talents have earned a wide reputation in the Stroudsburgs and Monroe County. While a student in the East Stroudsburg High School he led a dance band and represented his school as instrumental soloist in band concerts and State competitions.

He received his music training at the school with Clement Wiedlmyer, band instructor. Several of his band compositions were included in regular high school concerts during his high school days.

The son of Rev. and Mrs. Harold C. Eaton, he has also been active in local youth group affairs. He was a leader in the establishment of the twin-borough youth center with headquarters in the American Legion post home and served as president of his class and president of the East Stroudsburg High School student council.

Eaton made news recently in another phase of his activities at Princeton. As one of the members of "The Tigertown Five," Dixieland jazz combo from the university, Eaton appeared on the Perry Como show over the CBS television network.

The jazz group was also heard in concert at Carnegie Hall that same weekend and put in an appearance at the Child's Paramount jazz lounge and dining room.

LARGE deposits of manganese ore recently have been found in Liberia.

Seal Sales Push Above $6,000 Mark

CHRISTMAS SEAL sales crept slowly up to $6,142.61 yesterday and the Monroe County Tuberculosis and Health Society began mailing its routine reminders to county residents.

Mrs. Estelle Fleming, executive secretary of the society, said only $220 in seal money was returned yesterday in the mail.

The goal for the current year is $10,000—a major portion of which will be used to pay for a permanent chest X-ray screening machine. The machine will be installed in the General Hospital.

Mrs. Fleming said the reminder cards are merely intended to ask residents in a polite manner to buy the colorful seals and—just as important, she said—to use them on all their cards and packages.

South Europe Battered By Winter Storms

LONDON, Dec. 10 (AP)—Winter lashed parts of southern Europe with icy rain, wind and snow storms today. Flooding rivers and biting temperatures plagued wide areas of the British Isles.

In Dublin, swamped earlier in the week with its worst flood in living memory, thousands of housewives, shopkeepers, and relief workers were busy with cleanup and rehabilitation chores.

Sections of France, Italy and Switzerland were in the path of the new winter fury. The Irish midlands, Wales and England had continuing food troubles.

This was the country-by-country picture:

FRANCE—Torrential rains and winds up to 50 miles an hour in the Alps and Rhone Valley disrupted traffic and communications and brought flooding to low areas of villages. A fireman was killed near Genolieu when a wall collapsed and a cyclist drowned when he was pushed by the wind into a flooded field.

French port officials gave up as dead 59 men aboard six trawlers missing at sea for two weeks. Another trawler with five aboard unreported since Sunday was feared lost.

ITALY—Violent rain and snow storms swept across the northern part of the country. In the Apennines and Alps, snow was whipped by gale-force winds into drifts three feet deep. Rain swelled several small rivers to flood stage. The Tresa which flows into Lake Maggiore near Milan rose 1½ feet and threatened to rush over its banks.

SWITZERLAND—More than four feet of snow fell in the central Alps and Ticino Canton during the past 24 hours. Winter's first avalanche warning was issued by the Swiss Weather Service as trees collapsing under the weight of snow blocked roads and rail lines and cut telephone wires.

IRELAND—As cleanup work pressed ahead in Dublin, gas and water supplies were restored in flood damaged areas of the city. A relief collection started by Lord Mayor Alfred Byrne brought in almost $2,000.

To the west in the midlands, the River Shannon spilled over farm land in seven counties. The Department of Agriculture said some 2,000 small farms were flooded.

ENGLAND—Scores of roads in the west of England were still under as much as three feet of water. The Thames and Severn Rivers went over flood stage.

The 81,000-ton liner Queen Mary landed 844 passengers at Southampton today after riding out hurricane force Atlantic squalls earlier in the week. Some of its port-holes were broken and a section of the first class dining saloon was flooded. Capt. Donald Sorrell said the liner was in a northerly gale about 30 hours.

William Brassert, an American living in Geneva, said it was the worst of his more than 25 crossings. Waves at times were 80 feet high, he said. Some passengers were treated for bruises received when the ship rolled.

States Asked To Help Fight Narcotics And Monopolies

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., Dec. 10 (AP)—U. S. Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell asked attorneys general of the states and territories tonight to work with the federal government against illegal narcotics traffic and monopolies that restrain trade.

Brownell told the state officials, gathered in this mountain resort for their annual meeting:

"In these two fields, as in others where federal-state cooperation has been so fruitful, we can together make a significant contribution to our country's welfare."

Brownell, in his prepared address, for the most part steered clear of the school segregation controversy. He argued against segregation in the proceedings which resulted in the Supreme Court decision outlawing the practice.

Eugene Cook, Georgia attorney general and president of the State Attorneys General Assn., said in advance he would attend the dinner at which Brownell was listed as the main speaker.

Cook previously blocked plans to hold the meeting at Biloxi, Miss., by vetoing an address by Brownell there. He said he did so because of Brownell's stand on segregation of Negroes and white pupils.

The association skipped the segregation issue entirely in the resolutions it adopted at a closed session today.

One of these resolutions asserted the right of states and territories "to investigate and suppress subversive activities within their borders." It also authorized the appointment of a committee to work with federal authorities in this field.

Another urged Congress to pass legislation making sure each state and territory can levy and collect any nondiscriminatory tax. This stems from a Supreme Court decision holding a contractor with a federal agency can be constituted a federal purchasing agency and thus escape state taxes.

The association also authorized appointment of committees to 1. help draft an interstate compact on juvenile delinquency, 2. seek legislation which would let more drug addicts into federal hospitals, 3. work with the federal commission which is studying federal-state relationships, and 4. strive for greater state control on labor-management matters, "especially where public utility strikes are threatened, including strikes affecting essential transportation."

Graff, composer of "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling," and many other numbers, is in charge of the meeting, and Waring has agreed to speak to the group in response to the program chairman's request.

Chess Club Adds Two New Members

AT THE meeting of the Stroudsburg Chess Club Thursday night at the home of President John Price, Broad St., Stroudsburg, two new members were accepted and preliminary steps taken toward an inter-borough chess tournament.

A tournament had first been suggested at a previous meeting by M. Roane of the club's Barrett Township division. At this week's meeting, President Price suggested a tournament which would pit Barrett and East Stroudsburg against Stroudsburg in order to equalize strength, the county seat having higher representation in membership than either of the other divisions.

At the president's suggestion, the matter was laid over until January.

Dr. Gail Fegley and Earl Kulp were presented for membership and welcomed into the club.

Announcement was made of the appointment of President Price as editor of the "Paraplegics Magazine" issued in New York City. He was formerly editor and had built up the magazine to a position of influence so that management requested his acceptance of the job again.

In games played, Joseph Kushner defeated two opponents at one time, beating Frank Merwarth and Earl Weiss. Dr. Fegley introduced his playing to the club in three

Tipsy Pan A Hazard

A tipsy pan on the range is both unsafe and inefficient. Before buying a saucepan or frying pan, make sure that it stands steady on a flat surface and that the handle is not so heavy as to throw the pan off balance. An unsteady pan can tip and spill hot food or water, does not cook food evenly and, especially on an electric range, wastes heat. Look for the pan that "hugs the stove," fits the electric unit underneath, and has a close-fitting lid.

THE EVASIVE GLOG

is happy go lucky—as long as luck is with him

The GLOG is an advertiser who refuses to be moored to the crass world of facts and figures.

He may spend a million on advertising. But if you ask him why, he talks about golf.

If you ask him what he expects to get out of his ads, he raves about some oomph-girl who has caught the public eye.

You can't pin him down—because he honestly doesn't expect much from advertising.

Fortunately the GLOG is a rare creature.

Wise advertisers expect plenty from their advertising dollar. And they prefer to keep luck out of the picture.

So they don't try to cover the nation with a flimsy catch-all schedule. They pick their best markets—then really cover them.

Naturally they use newspapers. Because newspapers are basic—the foundation of any intelligent ad schedule.

Because only the newspaper reaches just about everybody in every community. Because only the newspaper carries the sense of urgency—"If it's advertised today, I'd better go down and get it quick."

No wonder advertisers invested twice as much money in newspapers last year as in any other medium!

All business is local...and so are all newspapers!

Service Clubs Cooperate In S-D Day

THE KIWANIS, Lions and Rotary Clubs will cooperate in hopes of making "Safe-Driving Day" a complete success in this area Wednesday, Dec. 15. This day is sponsored by the President's Action Committee for Traffic Safety.

The Pocono Mountain Motor Club will be one of the 57 Pennsylvania AAA units joining in support of S-D day. Students at Stroudsburg High School will be instructed on safety prior to the occasion. Members of the clergy have been asked to announce the plan in the various churches Sunday.

Fred Rhodes, representing Kiwanis, is overall chairman of the project and has charge of the traffic safety committee in that club. Bill Hannas is the traffic chairman for the Lions and John Muller for Rotary.

Various national organizations are aiding the President's Committee in demonstrating that traffic accidents can be reduced materially when all motorists and pedestrians do their part.

The test confronting the community and others throughout the nation next Wednesday will be to remain completely free of traffic accidents for the 24-hour period. Motorists and pedestrians alike are asked to aid in this important project to curb deaths and injuries on the highways.

Last year, one American was killed every 14 minutes in the total of 38,300 deaths and there was an injury in traffic every 23 seconds. Some 1,350,000 persons were injured. There were 10 million accidents during the year.

Foreign Policy Revision Urged By Association

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—The National Planning Assn., a private institution for national policy studies, has called for urgent revision of U. S. foreign policy, to "convince the Soviet leaders that there are alternatives . . . to catastrophic destruction."

The report also suggested putting U. S. relations with Communist China "on a more stable" basis, and urged bolder, broader use of "the economic weapon" in the fight against Communism, including large-scale aid programs in Southeast Asia and the Middle East.

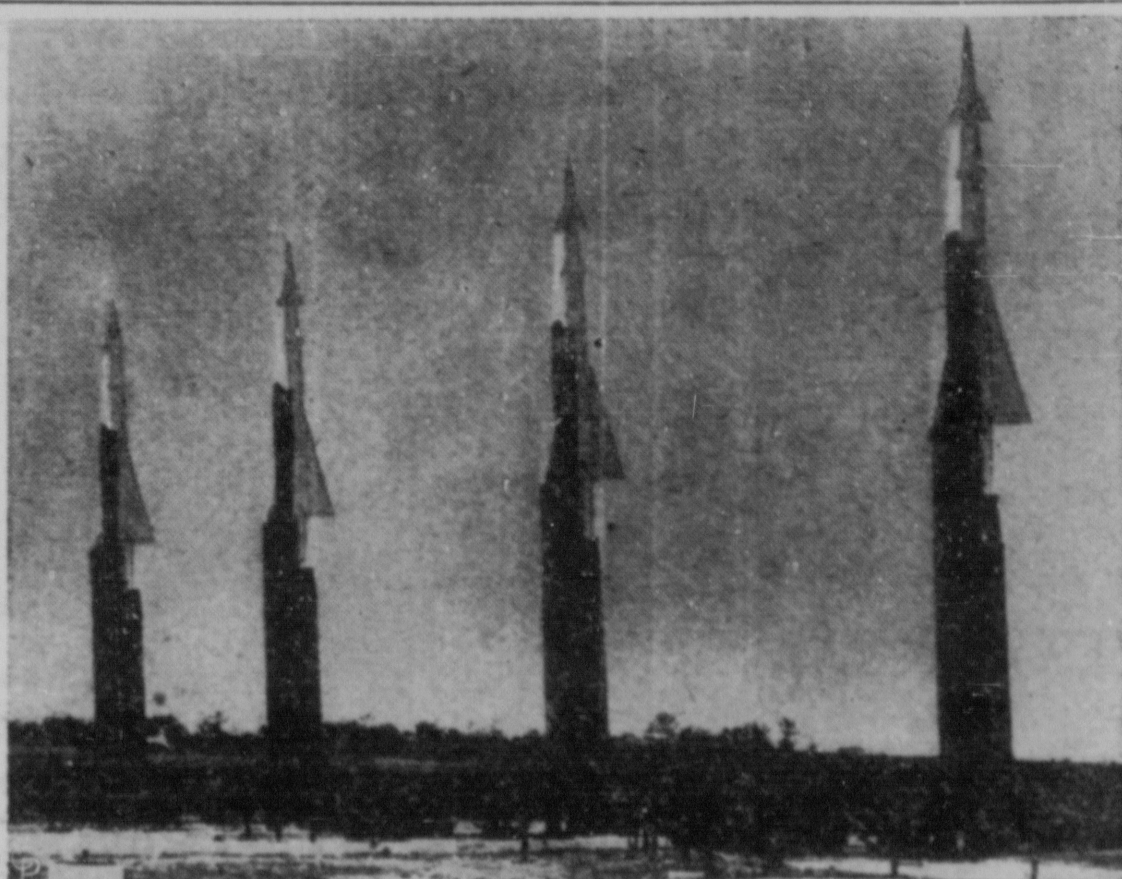

Despite some apparent softening of Soviet attitudes, the association's Committee on International Policy said, "It may safely be predicted that the underlying purpose" of Russian policy is world domination.

"The values of Western civilization are threatened as never before," the committee said, in the "present and critical phase of the cold war."

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Dec. 10.—The York Hotel, a 60-room, wooden-frame structure in downtown Atlantic City, was heavily damaged in a general alarm fire yesterday.

The four-story hotel was closed for the winter, however, and no one was injured. A bar, cafe, tailor shop and five other stores on the street floor were damaged by water.

Steel cable saw cuts through four inches of marble in about an hour.

Large section of marble on the ground has been detached from mountain.

SINCE THE DAYS of the Roman Empire—when Julius Caesar carved the first marble from Italy's Carrara mountains to build Rome—men have been digging this beautiful stone and sending it throughout the world. Prized for centuries, Carrara marble has been used by Rodin, Michelangelo and the builders of the Colosseum, Tower of Pisa, Roman Forum and the Paris Opera. More is being cut for the restoration of the war-destroyed Abbey of Montecassino, near Naples. Most rare and valuable of this marble is "statuary," which is pure white and costs five hundred dollars a cubic yard. The quarries are reached by winding roads. Tandem trucks finally carry the marble blocks to the yards where they are sawed up.

Perfume Hoax Described By C-C Secretary

A WARNING against nationwide hoax which misleads Christmas shoppers into the belief that they are buying high-priced perfumes at bargain prices was issued yesterday by Harold Swenson, executive secretary of the Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce.

The first step in the carefully planned scheme is the insertion in a national magazine of a dignified advertisement which will include the statement that the perfume is available "at better stores everywhere" at a price approximating $20 per ounce or half-ounce. In other cases, promoters have resorted to old advertisements dating back as far as twenty years although the products may have had no regular sale in stores since that time.

"Actually," Mr. Swenson stated, "the National Better Business Bureau, with which our chamber is affiliated, informs us that these so-called bargain perfumes are not known to have any current established retail distribution nationally at the advertised price or any other."

The next step in the scheme, as outlined by the Chamber executive, is to induce one or more well-known stores in a given community to accept a few bottles of the perfume on consignment. "The stage, having been set," Mr. Swenson said, "an army of fast-talking salesmen, who have purchased the perfume for approximately $1 per bottle, descends upon the community. In bars, business offices, factories and even on the sidewalks, they hawk the 'nationally advertised $20 perfume' at from $2 to $5 per bottle or whatever price the traffic will bear.

"Display of the magazine advertisement is usually sufficient to convince the intended victim that he is being offered a great bargain. More reluctant purchasers are invited to telephone one of the reputable stores where the product has been planted and determine for themselves that it is on sale at the advertised price. Merchants, who are thereby made unsuspecting participants in the scheme, are bewildered when the many telephone inquiries do not subsequently materialize at the store as eager buyers of the perfume.

"The National Better Business Bureau states that it has reports from cities all over the country where this Christmas perfume hoax is being perpetrated."

WORKMEN are shown erecting a 67-foot high fir Christmas tree south of the White House. It was the gift of the State of Michigan to the President and Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower. The Chief Executive will light the tree, which will be decorated with about 8,000 lights on the afternoon of December 17.

Protect Your Plugs!

A simple but important rule to prevent damage to your plugs and convenience outlets is to turn off the appliance before pulling out the plug. This rule holds for all appliances, large and small. Pulling the plug when an appliance is running or heating shuts off the flow of electricity gradually so that it sparks or makes an arc between the prongs of the plug and the wall outlet. This burns the prongs, leaves them pitted and eventually will lead to poor contact and inability to bring in electricity at all. For those few electric appliances which have no switch the rule is to pull the plug as fast as possible when disconnecting.

Ferrell Denies Slaying In Phenix City

PHENIX CITY, Ala., Dec. 10 (AP)—Pale and nervous and after a night in jail, Prosecuting Atty. Arch Ferrell insisted defiantly today that "I am not a murderer" and "I did not kill Albert Patterson."

But another former ringleader of Phenix City's fallen vice empire, ex-Chief Deputy Sheriff Albert Fuller who was indicted for murder along with Ferrell yesterday, remained silent "on the advice of my attorney."

State authorities were ready to ask for speedy trials of the two former Phenix City big shots who faced possible death sentences for the June 18 killing of the crusading former state senator nominated for attorney general on a vice cleanup platform.

Acting Atty. Gen. Bernard Sykes who directed the Patterson murder investigation, said he hopes to start the trials early in January, probably Jan. 3.

The identity of a third defendant indicted along with Ferrell and Fuller, reportedly as an accessory after the slaying, was still kept secret because he has not been arrested.

Meanwhile, the grand jury which triggered the Phenix City vice housecleaning and climaxed the four months of hearings with the murder indictments, made its final report to Special Judge Walter B. Jones and was formally discharged.

The jurors asked the nation to take a new look at Phenix City and to cast aside the traditional labels, such as "vice-laden place," and to recognize the Chattahoochee River community now as a city "that has experienced moral recovery."

Judge Jones told the jury in a written report that he, too, thought the reign of vice had been ended forever in Phenix City and that out of the cleanup will come a city where "honest, God-fearing people can live."

The court also paid tribute to newspaper coverage of the long vice investigation and gave the press credit for having widespread influence in making it possible.

Bell Reports Increases In Phones In Use

IN AN END of the month statement, W. D. Gillen, president of the Bell Telephone Co. of Pennsylvania reported a marked increase in the number of telephones added during November.

The net increase was 15,565, which is greater, with only two exceptions, than in any previous month since 1951 and is the fifth largest in the company's entire history.

At the same time Gillen reported a continuance of the sharp upswing in the number of out of town calls, which started in September, with the November volume six percent above the same month a year ago.

There is every indication that these favorable trends will continue in December, Gillen said.

Hemingway One Of Five Americans To Receive Nobel Prizes; Two Germans Also Honored

By TOM MASTERSON

STOCKHOLM, Dec. 10 (AP)—Author Ernest Hemingway received his Nobel prize today along with four other Americans and two Germans. The novelist also received a hint that "brutal, cynical and callous sides" to his earlier works delayed the coveted international recognition.

King Gustaf Adolf VI presented the 1954 awards amid traditional royal pageantry. The seven winners share the equivalent of $140,000. Dr. Linus Pauling, California Institute of Technology, received the chemistry award. Drs. John F. Ender of Harvard, Thomas H. Weller of the Harvard School of Public Health and Frederick C. Robbins of Cleveland's Western Reserve Medical School, shared the medicine prize for their research in the fight against polio.

Two German doctors, Max Born and Walter Bothe, shared the physics prize.

The hint of conflict among the members of the Royal Swedish

Academy of Literature over awarding the prize to Hemingway came in the presentation speech of Prof. Anders Osterling, who was known to have supported the American's candidacy.

"Hemingway's earlier writings display brutal, cynical and callous sides which may be considered at variance with the Nobel prize's requirements for a work of an ideal tendency," he said.

"But on the other hand, he also possesses a heroic pathos which forms the basic element in his awareness of life, a manly love of danger and adventure, with a natural admiration for every individual who fights the good fight in a world of reality overshadowed by violence and death."

Hemingway, 56, hailed by Prof. Osterling as "one of the greatest authors of our time," was the only American winner not present at the solemn ceremonies. He remained in Cuba nursing injuries suffered in African plane crashes. But Hemingway sent a statement read on his behalf by U. S. Ambassador J. Moors Cabot. It expressed humility in the acceptance of the prize.

King Gustaf Adolf VI presided at the ceremonies, which were a mixture of stiff royal pomp, musty academic rites and solemn music. The King arose from his gold and red velvet chair to present a $200 medal to each winner along with blue and brown embossed leather folios containing scrolls and the check. The prize in each field is worth $35,000. The King shook hands with each winner and chatted briefly with him before the recipient backed away from the monarch in accordance with custom.

A glittering audience of 1,300 guests gave its greatest applause to the team of three American doctors who discovered new weapons for the fight against poliomyelitis.

Drs. Weller, 39, and Robbins, 38, looked like students alongside 67-year-old Dr. Ender, with whom they achieved polio virus discoveries which are hailed as a stepping stone toward the goal of a polio vaccine.

Dr. Pauling, 51, received his chemistry award for discoveries of forces which make atoms stick together, affording an explanation of much that has baffled scientists since the middle ages.

Of the two German doctors, only Dr. Born was present. Dr. Bothe, hospitalized in West Germany, was represented by his two daughters. Dr. Born, 73, venerable former refugee from Hitler, was honored for work he did a quarter century ago in theoretical physics. His work was a springboard toward great discoveries including those which led to development of the hydrogen bomb.

There was no Nobel award for peace this year and no reason was given for the omission.

The prizes are paid out from interest on a nine-million-dollar fund left by Alfred B. Nobel, the Swedish inventor of dynamite.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

After several thousand club meetings, you'd think you'd know every kind of program but the Bangor Junior Women pulled a new one this week. Their program consisted of going around to visit the new homes in their locality—now that I'd like.

Of course you'd almost have to have a new home for inspection—new enough, at least, so that the accumulated junk hasn't started to pile up, the puppy hasn't ruined the rug, and it's still possible to wash the children's fingerprints off the woodwork.

Of course if you waited a little longer, the Christmas decorations could cover a multitude of scars. Speaking of decorations, the Stroud Community Club pulled a new one there. They not only decorated the hall with boughs of holly but they decorated the members as well, not only with corsages but with tiny Christmas tree ball ornaments for ear-rings. The whole audience just sat there and glittered.

And as for being sheer gluttons for punishment in this pre-Christmas rush, take the Junior Women who are going to baby-sit for shoppers afterwards. Most young mothers are finding enough on their hands with their own youngsters without taking on any more.

Maybe on their off-duty hours the Junior Women get cut rates for leaving their own children there. Well, anyone who thinks there's nothing new under the sun should occupy the social desk for a few days. Now there, I think I have something!

Listen To Bobby Westbrook on the Party Line over WVFO every Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 10:05 a.m.

Mrs. H. W. Brodhead led the devotional service. This was readings and poems that had been written by the recently deceased sister of Mrs. Markin, Mrs. John Lesh, of Snyder'sville. It was interspersed with Christmas hymns, and Miss Nellie Burd led in prayer. Mrs. George Hauser, presiding over the business meeting, appointed Mrs. Richard Carlton and Mrs. Robert Carlton as church flower committee for December and the first Sunday in January. Mrs. Francis Drake, missionary chairman, reported that all boxes of supplies had been shipped to the various fields for which they had been given. She read letters received by herself and by Mrs. Clifford Hauser from Rev. and Mrs. Norman Koehler who are now working in G. I. centers in Japan. Christmas greetings will be sent to the Koehlers and Bradburns and to Miss Mildred Harkness, of Japan, who spoke in the Presbyterian Church two years ago. Mrs. Edythe Glebe reported for the gift and card committee.

Mrs. Guy Kemper reported the recent successful bake sale. Mrs. George Hauser announced that the December rummage sale will be held at 334 Main Street on the 16th and 17th.

The report of the nominating committee—Mrs. Clifford Hauser, Mrs. Guy Kemper and Mrs. Russell Buzzard—was received. With Miss Nellie Burd acting as chairman for the election, the group placed in office:

Mrs. George Hauser, president; Mrs. Elam Gray, vice president; Mrs. Henry Kulp, secretary; Mrs. Francis Drake, asst. secretary; Mrs. Guy Kemper, treasurer; Mrs. John Wilson Jr., asst. treasurer; Mrs. Kemper is a new officer; the others were re-elected and Miss Burd expressed the thanks of the Auxiliary for their services during the past year.

Christmas was the theme of the decorations and program. The choral group composed of members, under the direction of Wallace Hornbrook, who is associated with Waring Enterprises, sang the five numbers: "Hark the Carol Angels Sing," "Star Song," "Never Was a Child So Lovely," solo by Mrs. Betty Fischer; "How Lovely Are the Words of Jesus My King," and closing the group with "Silent Night." Miss Benson, who was born in England, was taught by a friend of Dickens who had the original copy of the story. Announcement was made of the Holiday Dance being sponsored by the club, Wednesday night, December 29, from 9 until 12 at Chestnut Hill Inn, with Mrs. Robert Altom as chairman. ## Soroptimists Have Holiday Supper Party

The Soroptimist Club had a special reason for celebration at their Christmas party on Thursday night when a report on the progress of the girl for whom they are providing a nursing scholarship showed her to be doing very well and liking her work. Another applicant is being considered for a second scholarship.

The program followed dinner at the Penn-Stroud Hotel. Two colored moving pictures were shown: "The Night Before Christmas" and "The Nativity" by Mrs. Lulu Harvey and Mrs. Betty Clark of the Bell Telephone Co.

Gene Schiller, who was welcomed as a new member of the club at this meeting, played the celeste as accompaniment for the carol singing.

At the short business meeting with Mrs. Jean Barthold presiding, plans were made for the January meeting at the home of Miss Margaret MacLaren. Dr. Nina Price gave the reports from the Women's Medical College School of Nursing praising the work of the local student nurse and inviting the members to attend the capping ceremony in March.

Santa Claus distributed gifts to the members. The decorations included many of the candles which the Soroptimists had made at a meeting earlier this month.

Stroudsburg Turns Bangor Into Second Court Victim

East Stroudsburg High Rallies To Down Alumni, 59-51

Mountaineers Keep Perfect Record Intact

STROUDSBURG High's tall and rangy basketball squad rolled to its second straight victory of the current campaign last night by gaining a 62-38 decision over an out-manned Bangor club before a small crowd at the W. Main St. gymnasium.

Bangor led 2-0 in the early seconds of the opening period, but three straight points by Dave Nevil put the Mountaineers out in front to stay.

The "Big Three" totaled 45 points for the Mountaineers, despite the fact that Coach John Kupiec substituted freely throughout the second half. Doug Shook led the scoring parade with 16 counters. Dave Nevil was next in line with 15 markers and Dick Little tallied 14.

Stroudsburg overcame its early deficit and rolled into a 19-8 advantage at the end of the first quarter and then battled its way into a 37-21 lead at halftime. The Mountaineers had the better of the going in the second stanza, 18-13.

The home team put the game on ice with a 17-5 bulge in the third stanza, while Bangor came back to hold a 12-6 advantage against a mixture of Stroudsburg regulars and substitutes during the last eight minutes of play.

Stroudsburg held a 28-15 edge in field goals, but made good on only six of 16 charity tosses. The Slaters found the range on eight of 25 free throws.

Bangor scored a convincing 41-29 victory in the junior varsity battle between the two schools last night.

Duane Miller and Ronnie Everitt led the losing point production with 11 and 10 tallies respectively. Stroudsburg returns to action on Tuesday when the Mountaineers tangle with Benjamin Franklin High, in Carbondale.

Greene-Dreher Wins Fourth Game At Pocono's Expense

TANNERSVILLE—Greene-Dreher-Sterling High fought its way to victory number four without a defeat last night by taking the measure of Pocono, 55-32, before a capacity crowd here on the losing contingent's home court.

All of the Greene-Dreher victories have been at the expense of Monroe County League teams, namely Barrett, Tobyhanna Township, Pocono and Polk. Greene-Dreher is a member of the Wayne County Conference.

Last night the "Stags" featured too much height for Pocono and the visiting team broke the contest wide open in the second period after both clubs had battled to a 7-7 stalemate in the opening round.

Greene-Dreher ran up a 29-5 advantage in the second round to hold a 27-12 lead at the halfway mark. The Stags went on to win with a 14-12 bulge in the third quarter and a 14-8 advantage in the last eight minutes of battle.

The Stags, coached by Henry "Hank" Arneberg, held a 21-12 advantage in field goals and made good on 13 of 23 foul shots. Pocono, under the guidance of Coach Harry Wertheimer, found the range on eight of 19 charity tosses.

Henry "Hank" Olsommer paced the Greene-Dreher offense with 20 points. LeRoy Cyphers was top man for Pocono with 11 markers.

Greene-Dreher enjoyed a perfect night by sweeping the Junior varsity contest also, 30-18.

Cavaliers Win In Third Period

EAST Stroudsburg High evened its 1954-1955 basketball record at one and one last night by scoring a 59-51 victory over the Alumni, on the N. Courtland St. hardwood.

The scholastic five, paced by Bill Pensyl and Bill Sommers, broke the game wide open in the third period and came from behind to lead virtually the entire second half.

East Stroudsburg had trouble getting away from the starting line, for the second straight game, and the Alumni vaulted into an 18-13 lead at the end of the first eight minutes of play.

The Cavaliers hit low offensive tide in the second round, scoring only nine points, while the Alumni, powered by some of the school's former greats, moved into a 30-22 lead at the halfway mark.

But the varsity displayed its finest offensive outburst of the current campaign in the third period by rolling up 26 points while the outclassed Alumni could register only six tallies in the books.

The Cavaliers entered the home stretch with a 42-36 lead and made certain of the victory by holding a narrow 17-15 scoring advantage in the fourth and final stanza.

East Stroudsburg held a 26-19 advantage in field goals, but the Alumni made good on 13 of 22 foul shots, while the Cavaliers converted only seven of 20 free throws.

Pensyl and Bill Sommers paced the varsity with 15 and 10 counters respectively. Ray Steele, East Stroudsburg all-time great, led the Alumni with 18 counter. Jack Sommers also chipped in with 11 counters for the graduates.

East Stroudsburg's only other start prior to last night resulted in a 53-50 loss at the hands of Stroudsburg.

The seniors won the preliminary encounter, 56-32. Nick Patella led the seniors with 19 points, while Carl Smith was high for the junior varsity with eight counters.

East Stroudsburg opens its Lehigh-Northampton League war next Tuesday, with Parkland invading the N. Courtland St. gymnasium.

Martinez Staves Off Wild Rushes By Andrews To Earn Ring Decision In Garden Struggle

NEW YORK, Dec. 10 (AP)—Vince Martinez, a sharp fencer with quick bursts of violence, staved off the wild, headlong charges of Al Andrews to win a unanimous decision tonight at Madison Square Garden.

At the end of the 10th and final round, the well-battered but game Andrews had a closed left eye and a balloon of a nose.

Martinez weighed 150, Andrews 154.

Although Martinez, handsome idol of the Paterson, N. J., bobby-sox mob, couldn't bring down

Andrews he gave the Superior, Wis., plunger a thorough beating. At the end, Andrews was groping for his corner.

Referee Al Berl scored it 8-1-1, Judge Frank Forbes 8-2 and Judge Artie Aldala, 7-2-1, all for Martinez. The Associated Press also was 8-2 for Martinez.

The ever-charging Andrews who had knocked out Gil Turner in surprising fashion September 23, tried to overpower Martinez in the early stages. Once Vince got his talented left jab working, he was in charge. By the end of the second, Andrews' nose leaked red and there was a growing "mouse" under his right eye at the end of three.

In the face of his leather bath, Andrews kept coming on, standing up in his corner before the bell and springing into action at the earliest moment.

In the fourth, his best round, Andrews caught Martinez with a solid hook to the body and a right to the head. It seemed for a moment that he might have the stuff to give Martinez a body beating.

Chestnuthill Quintet Blasts Alumni In Exhibition, 75-30

BROOKHAVEN—Chestnuthill High, sparked by Dick Kreger, demonstrated some of its potential power last night by mauling an Alumni aggregation, 75-30. The game was played on the high school court.

The victory evened the present record of the Monroe County League contingent at one and one, both exhibition verdicts.

Kreger scored a total of 24 points as the scholastic five, coached by Bill Frear, stepped out to a 14-6 lead at the end of the first quarter and a 30-16 advantage at the halfway mark.

The Frearmen picked up speed as the game progressed and lifted hopes of their fans by dominating the third round, 19-6, and then really ran wild to build a 26-8 advantage during the last eight minutes of play.

Kreger received a big assist from all of his mates. Bill Everett and Harold Burkett each contributed 14 points to the attack.

Al Conklin and Lloyd Brong each scored 10 markers for the losing Alumni five.

Chestnuthill made good on five of nine foul shots, while the Alumni converted four of six free throws.

The Chestnuthill junior varsity took the measure of the Hungry Five, a group of students, 44-20, in the preliminary tussle.

Polk Trips Pen Argyl In Overtime

PEN ARGYL—Ronnie and Sherwood Smith, no relation, carried Polk High School to its first basketball victory of the season last night as the charges of Coach Art Smith captured a 43-37 overtime decision over Pen Argyl High. The game was played on the Pen Argyl court.

The Smiths each scored a total of 20 points and each tallied a field goal in the overtime session to cement the decision. Charley Raub also came up with a two-point play in the extra period.

Ronnie Smith scored his 20 points on four field goals and 12 of 19 foul conversions. Sherwood tallied six field goals and made good on eight of 14 charity heaves. In all, Polk converted 21 of 41 foul shots.

Pen Argyl, playing its first game under new coach Ed "Jake" Palmer, former East Stroudsburg State Teachers College career star, held at 15-11 advantage in field goals, but couldn't stop Polk from the charity marker. The host club made good on seven of 22 free throws.

The two foes battled on even terms throughout the contest. Polk held an 18-16 lead

CIO Supports Unions Seeking Pay Guarantee

By NORMAN WALKER

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 10 (P)—The CIO ended a week-long convention today with a pledge to back up member unions in demanding that employers accept guaranteed annual wage plans in 1955.

Delegates unanimously passed a resolution saying that major industries should put aside funds to supplement present state unemployment compensations for at least a year when workers lost their jobs.

"Not only workers but the entire nation will benefit," the convention said, "when the great industrial companies are impelled by the stimulus of wage guarantees to plan for stable employment and to support government policies directed toward encouraging economic stability."

Walter Reuther, elected without opposition to a new term as CIO president, pledged that the 1½ million member CIO Auto Workers Union, which he also heads, will win a guaranteed wage plan in conflicts with the auto industry next year.

The convention's resolution said, "We recognize that large employers should accept responsibility for providing regular employment, or failing that, regular wages, while workers are out of jobs."

The emphasis on "large employers" appeared to indicate some doubt within the CIO of the wisdom, for the time being at least, of smaller firms committing themselves to guaranteed wage plans.

Employer groups have argued that just as individual workers have no control over economic ups and downs affecting employment, neither have individual firms. However, the CIO resolution said it was contemplated that an employer's liability under guaranteed wage plans would be limited "to a certain per cent of his payroll."

"Such a limited liability approach is the answer to the argument that guaranteed wage plans would result in an impossible burden," the resolution said.

Two major concerns seemed to dominate the week-long convention sessions. One was maintaining employment and wage levels. The other the prospective mergings of the CIO and the AFL.

Besides the guaranteed wage proposal, other steps urged by the convention to improve economic conditions were: more government public works spending, reduced taxes on low income groups, higher minimum wage and social security levels, and government study of the effects of automatic production methods.

There was general optimism for a merger with the AFL, although some CIO leaders privately claimed more progress for organized labor was possible by keeping rival, competitive labor federations. Reuther pledged an all-out effort to clinch the merger in new talks with the AFL early next year.

Along with Reuther all major CIO officers were elected to new terms without opposition.

Youth Center Cancels Dance

THERE WILL BE no dance tonight at the twin-borough Youth Center in the American Legion post home.

Legion officials are now in the process of decorating their auditorium for the visit of 500 or more Legion Eastern Judiciary District delegates. The delegates will attend the annual district meeting Sunday at the Legion home.

The post home will also serve its regular annual game dinner Sunday, officials announced.

Youth Center activities will resume next Saturday. A dance is planned for that time.

Cedric Belfrage Ordered Deported

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (P)—The Justice Department said today an Immigration Service inquiry officer has ordered Cedric H. Belfrage, a New York writer, deported "on grounds of Communist party membership."

Belfrage, identified as the editor of the "National Guardian," has 30 days in which to appeal the

MRS. FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT receives an ovation from the convention of C.I.O. leaders in Los Angeles after telling the labor union delegates that the nation must develop an atomic age attitude. She said it must be "willing to face new ideas, try experiments and not be afraid of the unknown." With her are her son, James (left), newly-elected Congressman from California, and Walter P. Reuther, president of the labor organization.

Resort Associations Delay Meeting To Work Out Plan For Avoiding Duplications

A MEETING OF ALL four major Pocono resort associations, originally scheduled for Thursday night this week will be held next Thursday at 4 p. m. instead.

According to Harold Swenson, executive secretary of the Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau, this week's meeting was postponed due to bad weather.

Swenson said the proposed conference will be held prior to the annual dinner-business meeting of the Vacation Bureau. Both meetings are slated to be held in the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

Taking part in the four-group conference will be representatives of the Vacation Bureau, the Eastern Poconos Resort Association, the Top of the Poconos Association and the Pocono Vacationlands Association.

One purpose of the conference is to work out a system whereby the four groups may avoid duplication of effort in advertising and publicity, Swenson said.

In the past each of the organizations has planned and run its own individual public relations and advertising program. The result has sometimes been repetition of the same story or theme from all four groups, Swenson indicated.

The Thursday afternoon meeting at the Penn-Stroud will kick off a five-day period of activity on the part of the Vacation Bureau and the Chamber of Commerce.

At Thursday night's annual Vacation Bureau meeting the board members will discuss the group's goals for 1955, Swenson indicated. Part of the meeting will also be devoted to a review of the past year's accomplishments and plans order to the Board of Immigration Appeals.

He was arrested May 15, 1953, and has been free on $5,000 bond.

The inquiry officer, the Department said, decided after a hearing in New York that Belfrage, a British citizen, was a member of the Communist party both at the time of and since his latest entry into this country.

Two Couples Buy Homes

TWO Stroudsburg houses were sold recently, according to deeds recorded yesterday at the office of Floyd Butz in the courthouse.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde B. Prouse of Stroudsburg bought a house and lot on the north side of Scott St. formerly owned by the late Frederick C. Fatzinger. The purchase was made through the executors, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Fatzinger of Catskill, N. Y., and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fatzinger of Camp Hill, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Gordon of 36 Broad St. sold their house and lot to Mr. and Mrs. Carl F. Meissner of Stroudsburg.

which will carry over into the new fiscal year.

On Monday, Dec. 20 the annual meeting of the Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce will be held, Swenson said. He urged all members to attend the "most important meeting of the year."

One-half of the total directorial board will be elected, Swenson announced. An open meeting of the Chamber will be held in January, the secretary said.

Heckman Boy Wins Award At Barrett

LAST NIGHT at the Barrett YMCA, Richard Heckman, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Heckman, Canadensis, was presented with the highest award given by the Kohanso Indian Group. The award is a fully decorated Indian war bonnet and it is constructed and given by the group.

The award must be earned by the accomplishment of 30 different requirements, such as perfect attendance, dance participation, group gifts and special events. Thirty eagle feathers make up an Indian war bonnet.

Richard has been a member of the Kohanso group for about one year and is the first boy to receive this award. He is also in the rank of "brave" which is shared by five other boys of the group. Richard has performed in 13 of the popular dance ceremonies and is considered a fine Indian dancer; he also excels in Indian bead craft.

The award was presented by Carlton C. Chopp, adviser of the group, in a colorful ceremony. Mr. Heckman stood at his son's left. The event ended with refreshments and a tour of the Y building.
